Integrated Management System IMS

Achieve title — IMS manager
Belgrade, 17th March 2016

Integrated management system would be relevant to any organisation independent of its size and sector, as long as the organisation is looking to combine two or more of their management systems into a single unit, putting together the policies, documentation, procedures and processes. Organisations with maturing and developing management systems would understand the need for IMS better and can easily implement the benefits

In accordance generally accepted practice, one CPE credit has been granted for each 50-minute period.
